Theory of Mind is the ability to accurately guess what a person may be thinking or feeling, or predict what someone is likely to do in a particular situation (‘putting yourself in someone else’s shoes’).

Children with ASD have poor Theory of Mind, making it difficult for them to interpret the feelings and behaviours of others, as well as understanding social situations.

This workshop will provide an explanation of What is Theory of Mind. How poor Theory of Mind impacts children with ASD, how to help further develop skills in Theory of Mind in children with ASD.
